

Black-eyed Susans Are Native To Hampton Roads

Here's Why You'll Love 'Em:

They are beautiful & easy to grow.

They're perennials.

They're drought-tolerant.

Their nectar attracts butterflies and bees.

Birds enjoy their seeds.

By planting them, you are being an environmental steward!